Film Director George Lucas Perceives Film as a Moral Instrument.

Film and other visual entertainment are a pervasively important part of our culture, an extremely significant influence on the way our society operates. Lucas says, People in the film industry don't want to accept the responsibility that they had a hand in the way the world is loused up. But, for better or worse the influence of the Church, which used to be all-powerful, has been usurped by film. Film and television tells the way to conduct our lives, what is right and wrong.

Our Mission

For more than 30 years, Visible Light Ministries has championed the cause of restoring the arts, media and entertainment to the Kingdom of God and His purposes. Anti-God, cultural revolutionaries daily assault the Church and Christian values through the misuse of arts and media. They increasingly promote hedonism and anti-Biblical values and lifestyles to a global audience. Visible Light founders - Domenic and Charlie Fusco – have made this arena their personal mission field.

Visible Light Ministries' Evangelistic Outreach is Three-fold.

- 1. *To personally evangelize and support a distinct demographic: culture-shapers within the arts and media community. Whether working with professionals or aspiring artists in classroom settings, seminars, on location in production in the marketplace, in Church/ministry gatherings, or through social media, Domenic and Charlie model and share the message of God's love, truth, goodness, and beauty. The Fuscos have tirelessly used their talents, resources, expertise, influence, and spiritual gifts to reverse negative influences in the industry. Their priority is to evangelize this mighty band of propagandists changing them into true artists who glorify and serve the Lord with their talents and skills.
- 2. *Producing inspirational teaching materials which support Christian ministries and are useful in sharing the Gospel in varied settings around the world. Specific materials are listed in Introducing the Founders and described in detail in the following pages.
- 3. *Assisting churches, ministries, and missions who are facing ever-evolving social media demands has been and remains a key mission and ultimate goal of Visible Light Ministries. A partial listing of media produced in support of ministries around the world is provided in the section titled Media Production for Ministries. Note that Visible Light Ministries pursues its mission of unity by fully supporting the whole Body of Christ with its services.

The high priestly prayer of Jesus in John 17 is the underlying inspiration and foundation of Visible Light Ministries' entire body of work and outreach.

*I pray not only for these,
but also for those who believe in Me through their message.
May they all be one,
as You, Father, are in Me and I am in You.
May they also be one in Us,
so the world may believe You sent Me.
I have given them the glory You have given Me.
May they be one as We are one.
I am in them and You are in Me.
May they be made completely one,
so the world may know You have sent Me and have loved them as You have loved Me.*

John 17:20-23

Holman Christian Standard Bible

It is because of the Fuscós' passion to see this prayer of Christ realized that they were drawn into fellowship with the Communion of Evangelical Episcopal Churches with whom Visible Light Ministries is a recognized member.

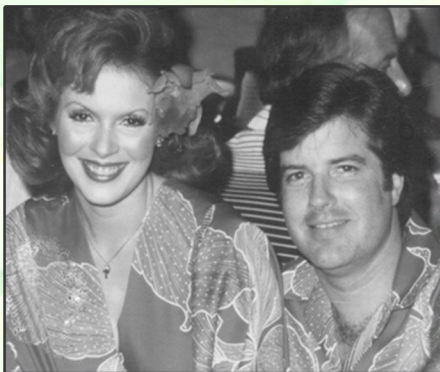

CEEC was created by the convergence of the Evangelical, Charismatic/Pentecostal, and Sacramental traditions. In contrast to a denomination, a communion expresses the organic unity that Jesus Christ originally established in His Body, the Church. Rather than emerging from divisions created by historic differences over doctrine and practice, a communion represents a return to unity based on the recovery of the essential oneness of the ancient, medieval, and contemporary church: Scripture, Spirit, Sacraments and Service.

Introducing the Founders

For forty-five years as partners in marriage, business, and ministry, Domenic and Charlie Fusco have blended their talents, skills, wisdom and faith-based vision to exemplify the virtues of true success to the glory of God. The Fuscos are founders of Visible Light Ministries and Image Artistry Video and Film. Both are based in Central Florida where they reside.

Domenic and Charlie have one daughter, Giovannina Fusco-Suluh. Formerly a vocalist for Visible Light Ministries, and the Fusco's church, St. John's Abbey, she currently supports the ministry as an editor and social media advisor. Giovanna's husband, Surya Suluh, is a mechanical engineer and programmer who serves Visible Light Ministries with cutting edge technical support. Domenic and Charlie count it a great blessing to have three grandchildren (Gabriella, Anabella and Lorenzo) with whom to share their lives.

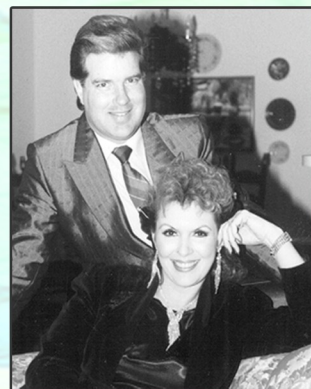

Domenic Fusco is often called a “renaissance man”. His educational background is as varied as his life experiences and interests. Leaving behind a successful career in the electronics industry (R &D engineer, sales rep, sales manager and marketing manager), and laying aside his degrees in electronics from University of Farmingdale, NY and University of Tennessee, Domenic leapt from the comfort of his career safety net into the unknown to embrace Christian ministry.

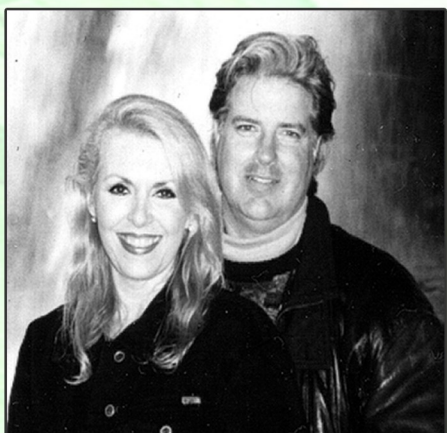

Answering his call from God, Domenic pursued religious studies and received a Master of Theology from Logos Bible College and Seminary. Ordained to ministry in the United Christian Church, Domenic founded Visible Light Ministries with his wife Charlie. After a short pastorate in Orlando, Florida, the Fuscos, and their evangelistic team, ministered cross-denominationally from Florida to the Northeast in churches, retreat centers, prison ministries, youth groups and more.

Domenic and Charlie Fuscus' vision to use their arts, media and technical expertise to expand their ministry outreach in support of ministers and missionaries around the world has been their active pursuit for over thirty years. They have used their unique talents, skills and Biblical knowledge to develop teaching materials for catechesis and support media for churches, ministries and missionaries across the globe.

Since the late 1980's, Domenic and Charlie Fusco have shared a ministry alliance and friendship with Dr. Ted Baehr of MovieGuide and The Christian Film and Television Commission. Visible Light Ministries shares a common vision with MovieGuide: to impact culture by increasing the production of up-lifting, family-friendly media. A campaign to reach out to studio heads, actors, producers, directors, and those holding the purse-strings of Hollywood, has resulted in an impressive increase of family divisions in studios and film-makers recognizing the giant and profitable market for family fare in theaters and on television.

The Fuscus produced MovieGuide's first syndicated television show featuring critical reviews of film from a Christian world-view. During more than two decades, Domenic and Charlie have supported MovieGuide efforts by reviewing movies, filming red carpet events, and interviewing celebrities at MovieGuide Award Ceremonies in Atlanta and Hollywood.

MovieGuide Founders, Dr. Ted and Lily Baehr, Actor Stephen Baldwin, Visible Light Founders, Charlie and Domenic Fusco

As a producer and director, Domenic Fusco has traveled the globe producing world-class projects from concepts to copies. His impressive roster of clients include stars of stage and screen, music icons, sports legends, super models, corporate leaders, presidents, kings, and spiritual luminaries. Additionally, Domenic is a motivational keynote speaker, teacher, and author of numerous books and articles.

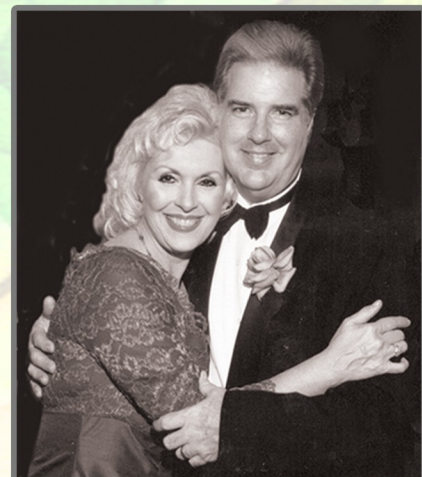

The support materials Domenic has developed during his career and ministry have been invaluable resources for his former students at the Art Institute of Atlanta, and currently for his on-line and FamFlicks following. Numerous interns, fledgling production companies, churches and ministries have profited from Domenic Fuscus' servant heart. His hands-on approach prepares and inspires the people of God - and most urgently the artists and media community - to professionally and spiritually meet the social media and communication demands of the 21st Century.

Charlie Fusco began making her mark in the arts while still in high school. Her diversity of talents as a painter, sculptor, art show director, thespian, musician, and writer led her peers to vote her their school's "Most Talented". Her mixed media entry in Hallmark Corporation's scholarship competition opened the door for her to pursue higher education in fine arts at the University of Tennessee.

It was at the University of Tennessee that Domenic and Charlie Fusco met and became inseparable. Within a year and a half, they were married and began a partnership of stellar proportions.

Domenic's early career advancements required frequent relocation around the country. During this period, Charlie expanded her field of study through distance learning with the New York School of Interior Design. Armed with historical reference and practical application, the groundwork was laid for her attention to detail and design expertise in set and stage design, as well as product and celebrity styling for photography, video and film.

Ms. Fusco received her Master of Religious Arts from Aidan University. She is an accomplished writer whose credits include hundreds of successful campaigns for top corporations and myriad faith-based and non-profit organizations.

It is the glory of God to conceal a thing: but the honor of kings is to search out a matter.

Proverbs 25:2 NASB

Prosperous is the one who understands that a life without vision is utterly destitute. For with vision, seemingly unattainable treasures will become his legacy.

Held captive in the lost history of ancient days are secrets which may only be discovered in the revelations of the distant future. For we know that after the cleansing of the earth when all living things were covered by water, that those who were spared went out a raven, then a dove, in search of a sign of life. Hope for a restored earth and a future filled with promise was renewed when the dove returned bearing an olive branch. What unknown strength and fortitude did the ancient olive tree possess? How did it survive such cataclysmic destruction and live to blossom and bear fruit once again? What wondrous secret does the olive tree hold for the curious of soul?

In planning an olive grove, one must count the changes and chances of Nature for longer it holds a mature crop springing than a pair of birds. For many who toil in the orchard, their children The planting of the olive grove must be carried Each tree should be separated from the others olive tree to the olive fly. Joyful is the one who denies himself with lamentation. For the decisions he makes for Truth's sake will return to him abundant consolation.

For millennia the seasons have changed with consistency. As winter welcomes springtime and summer fades into the ebb of autumn, there remains amidst the continual change the steadfast nature of the seed. Encompassed in the tiny seed is a grand mystery, indeed a revelation, of how death brings life.

The seed holds the source of identity for all flora in creation. Each seed transmits the unique particularities of its species. Over unfavorable periods of growth, dictated through dimensions in time, the seedcoat defends the promise of life will remain dormant for only a brief moment in a season or for thousands of favorable growing environment, it will awake to its inner purpose. Indeed animals frozen for thousands of years have quickly sprung to life when grain, mighty woodlands, herbaceous plants and flowers fair find their substance of a seed.

Germination is the spark that begins the process of delivering the end maturity in the light of the sun. This occurs when light, a cold snap or water is from dormancy. Once aroused from its comforting sleep, it begins in the order of life. Through this cycle of transformation a great mystic sacrifices itself in death by decomposition and consumption in order to

The seed waits in anticipation of the changing seasons. Will the wind currents to float above the waves of the sea? Might a halcyon just being field? Perhaps one of the earth's creatures will pick it up and carry it time. Or will the seed merely dig down and lie dormant until the day of resurrection life? Destiny is in the balance. A decision must be made: reward and multiply life.

Beloved is the one who shows compassion. For in his time of greatest need, that which he has sown in mercy will return to him in like kind.

The rose... does not its face define beauty? In the mere mention of its name, is not perfection found? Fragrant of petals, the spires of flowers reign over our senses sending forth the fragrance of angels upon the wind and displaying the hues of heaven throughout the earth. Has any other blossom evoked such sentiment or been so celebrated in the sonnets of lovers? What can compare it as a token of love, friendship or remembrance? Has any other flower carved so cherished the human soul as this botanical treasure? Does not its fragrant the coldest heart? What, then, can doubt the power of the rose?

The rose mystifies one's imagination at its competence to live and grow. Gracing well-tended gardens, its inner resilience is marked at elevations few men dare to leaves the sandy, parched soil of deserts and as in blossoms in the frigid regions of roots deeply into rocky ground, the rose stretches its graceful boughs to ramble some walk lifting its lovely face to the sun.

Although cultivated by its admirers for centuries, close observation reveals little varieties and their well-tended relations. For, the rose generously showers the gaze with the same effusion as she decorates the bouquets and court yards of royal notable between the wild originals and cultivated specimens; when pruned and g master gardeners, roses grow more resilient and their beauty flourishes in myriad ministrations of the gardener, the rose may become an ever-blossoming hedge of p from a disease and decay resistant root stock. Who could question the value of it partnership with the rose?

Take care to closely view the colorful seeds in the center of the rose. Are they not velvety petals and perfume? Yet it is they who attract birds to land on them, use be dispersed and its beauty spread abroad. Year upon year, the rose responds to sun with brilliant bursts of color and sweet attracting bees, butterflies and passer Considered by many to be merely a thing of fragile beauty, the student of the m contrary greater depth of strength and character. A careless touch will soon rev with its existing fragrance may come at a great price. One who would grasp the care not to be pricked by the thorns which protect and surround its leafy stem. A graces one senses with her splendor, her thorns are sure to deter those who would advantage of her charms.

Beyond first glance, beyond the obvious and alluring qualities of the rose, lies its purpose. Its medicinal and aesthetic properties have been understood and utilized peasants and kings alike. For removed from its cluster formation as a symbol of the giving up of its inner essence the rose becomes a healing balm lifting and ting soul.

Many will pass her swiftly never drawing close to smell her fragrant gift. Some acknowledge her beauty from afar. And others will question, "How much attention given to this worthy queen of the flowers?" Gaze the Universe in reply: "Never ceases the rose of life is fraught with challenges. Breaken to the rose. Her guiding journey and return you to the safe harbor of Compassion's embrace."

Wise is the one who diligently kindles and fans the flames of passion; for his greatest desire will be satisfied.

Surely the first sound of thunder and the sight of lightning rocked the cradle of civilization with awe and fear. When with great rumbling and loud crashes a bolt traversed the sky striking a tree and setting it ablaze, and lighting up the night, it was a hell for the whole sea to come. This shocking event would change everything man understood. Would he remain huddled in the darkness, the vulnerable prey of predators on every side, or perhaps become the victim of Nature's unpredictable whims? What secret might the day reveal should he dare to embrace and harness the glowing wonder before him: the power of fire?

It is uncertain how often man observed this natural phenomenon in fear before it became his teacher. For the lightning's aftermath, wildfire, would rage undeterred consuming all flora and fauna in its path and striking terror in the hearts of those who watched in the distance. They would flee in search of safety to be drawn again in curiosity to its warmth and light. Gradually, man dared to approach the glowing embers. Gathering them in the hollow horn of a slain animal, he transported their wonder and possibilities to his camp. Suddenly, the student became the teacher. Urging his clamorous to leave their justified fear behind,

The friction of a hard stick would create heat when half of soft wood and the striking of stone against stone brought through by human hands, became the means by which civilization the cold, torches to light the darkness, the baking of earthenware tools and weapons. As a result of controlled burns, man was enriched pulled from birds. With fire, forests were cleared to open up grasslands with progress came risk: uncontrolled fire brought destruction, injury and smoke and flames resulted in accidental burns as well as loss of and fear filled the hearts of many. Purification came from its control

Fortunate is the one who commits to rise above the hard lessons of life. For in time he will shine forth as the noonday sun.

Poetically called the invincible, the precious, the star, this wonder of nature begins in obscurity. Formed by the punishments of pressure and the blackness of dark days, it waits for liberation while bearing the weight of the world. Through fiery trial and unrepentant hardship common carbon is transformed and rises to become a shining star in a vast sea of mediocrity.

Deep within the bowels of the earth, the common becomes the extraordinary. Exposed to extreme temperatures and unfathomable pressure, long-suffering lumps of coal are compressed until impurities are expelled. Transparent crystals produced under these very specific conditions become the purest and hardest of gemstones: diamonds. As if the earth wishes to shower rewards on the curious, great volcanic eruptions elevate these brilliant stones to the surface in funnels. With each cataclysmic eruption, diamonds are dispersed amongst the elements of the earth, where they will find each sparkling prize. It is known that for thousands of years, the holed of men have found these highly treasured stones along river banks for the rarest and most valuable gems be cast at the feet of

Its refinement, indeed of the master's knowing hands. Prepared to today sun, the diamond shines forth brilliantly forever, not its beauty but its substance within.

Victorious is the one who makes peace with his destiny. For with courage he will be given wings to fly before the face of God.

Legend holds that when the Great Spirit created the world he wanted the people to celebrate the beauty of nature. He called on the South Wind to locate the breath of life into the many-colored stones in the streams. As the breath of God touched those inanimate objects, they were suddenly transformed into living creatures. Rising from the waters of life, they flew away gracefully having become the brightly painted flowers of the air.

Most beloved of all insects, butterflies rank among nature's most dazzling creatures. They neither live, wing nor spread disease. They are altogether graceful and lovely. Should we, then, not closely observe this elusive beauty to learn the virtues of its mystical life?

Circling the globe in vast variety, butterflies can be found in the frigid climes of the Arctic Tundra, soaring in the thin air high above the timberline, inhabiting lush rainforests and churning in the scorching floor of the desert. Suddenly materializing in the steamy aftermath of violent thunderstorms or beating their wings leewardward in stiff breezes crossing the sea, these dainty wonders defy their fragility courageously facing enemies and obstacles in their unimpeded dance of life.

Perhaps no other creature can so inspire courage as the delicate butterfly. Unique in all the animal kingdom, the butterfly's life cycle is a complete metamorphosis in four stages. Facing innumerable challenges ahead, life's journey begins when a tiny egg is deposited on a leaf of a species-specific host plant. Awaiting maturation for a few days or a few months, the egg clings to the leaf which will eventually become its banquet table. Yet the future is uncertain at best. Adversity and mortal enemies abound at every stage of life.

Surely this tiny life form obeys an inner guide as it begins to feast on its nutritive host and matures into a larva. With resilience it leaves no matter weather, prying insects, birds of the air and mankind in search of its destiny. Sustained by its past, it is encouraged to venture into the unknown future. The earth-bound caterpillar undertakes its singular mission. Never deviating from its primary goal, the caterpillar tirelessly eats and grows. Shedding its skin time and again, it stretches its body and a lofty dream the final molt. As the skin splits and shrivels for the last time, the pupa is formed. Suspended in time and vulnerability by a silken thread, it waits.

Humble caterpillars surrender the essence of their lives succumbing to change. Each act of sacrifice changes a simple caterpillar into a magnificent agent of transformation. In a matter of days or months the body becomes exalted. In the twinkling of an eye the pupa becomes transcendent revealing the new creation within. Once held in captivity, the creature responds to the call of Destiny: "Come forth! Freedom awaits!" Wrenching and tearing its way to liberation, the butterfly appears in morning's light exposed to the majesty of its birth. Hanging upside down, clinging to the remnants of its origin, it must exercise restraint and patience allowing blood to surge through its veins, stretching and strengthening its wings.

Within a few hours the maiden voyage commences as this magnificent beauty begins to move its wings up and down in rapid succession, gliding and lifting from flower to flower. Evaluating ever plants by shape, color, fragrance and taste, it will choose, as with larval plants, one known to sustain its particular species. Energized by the sweetness of the earth, the butterfly vigorously pursues a mate and host plants on which to lay its eggs. Eating, mating, sleeping, avoiding predators and spreading pollen from plant to plant complete the adult butterfly's duties and delights.

Living to complete the migration begun by their predecessors, butterflies fulfill their destiny securing the survival of their future generations. Having fought the good fight, do not earth-bound limitations and labors now fade from relevance? The race is finished; strength has been perfected in weakness.

FamFlicks is Visible Light Ministries' pro-active plan to usurp the darkness that so often engulfs the most-promising artists and diverts them from the purposes of God for their talents. In short, FamFlicks was developed as an evangelistic outreach specifically geared to aspiring artists (all genres), film and media students and "techies". FamFlicks' twelve week course was created as a precursor for those considering a career in the world of media, film, and associated arts and technologies, and those interested in serving their local churches with media and arts support. Basic technical and production skills are introduced in the classes and supported by technical and philosophical text materials. Coupled with collaborative creative group sessions which are established in the framework of a Christian world-view, students increase their skills while gaining an understanding of the Christian character principles which will insulate and strengthen them from the pitfalls of celebrity and the trappings of the limelight. Whether students are entrepreneurs engaged in secular film careers, media-driven businesses, or church media/arts ministry, this course offers insightful guidelines for achieving fulfilled purpose.

Don't Confuse Talent with Character!

Pastors, remember that talented, gifted people don't necessarily possess character ethics or life skills. Think Alec Baldwin!

Hollywood legend George Lucas makes us aware that the arts, entertainment and film industries power brokers have become the priests and prophets to this generation. Giant-screened televisions, theaters, and iPods are the churches of the masses. They herald a mixed message of anti-Biblical philosophy delivered by self-appointed "spiritual" gurus who capture a vulnerable post-modern audience in their deceptive web.

Christian churches - those holding firmly to orthodox faith and practice – are to be commended for their efforts to bring the Good News to the lost. However, their demographic has changed: fewer seek the local church or its message for their “spirituality”. Today, pastors need to look no further than their own pews for lost souls. Many of the churched have become merely “Cafeteria Christians”. They pick and choose their theology and values based on media more than Scripture. It is wrong to assume that “church folk” will have no moral crisis in this deluge of spiritual misinformation. Even those counted among the faithful may not be functioning as people of character. When the average parishioner spends little more than an hour each week listening to their pastors as compared to eight hours each day being programmed by mass media, what else can be expected?

FamFlicks offers alternative training for those called by God to impact culture through their artistic and technical gifts. Mentoring from seasoned men and women of God who have for decades stayed the course as ministers of the Gospel, and as masters of their crafts, offers a promise of divine destiny.

This is the day for Church leadership to unite with those arts and media professionals whose apostolic calling uniquely carries on the Biblical precedent set forth by God in Scripture.

The LORD also spoke to Moses:

Look, I have appointed by name Bezaleel...

(God calls - hand picks - talented and skilled people to create for His glory.)

The name Bezaleel means:

one who abides (works in creative pursuits) in the shadow of the Almighty.

I have filled him with God's Spirit, with wisdom, understanding, and ability in every craft to design artistic works... for work in every craft.

(Bezaleel was filled with God's Spirit to empower him to use his talents and skills and teach others the creative arts for fulfilling God's will.

I have also selected Oholiab... to be with him. I have placed wisdom within every skilled craftsman in order to make all that I have commanded...

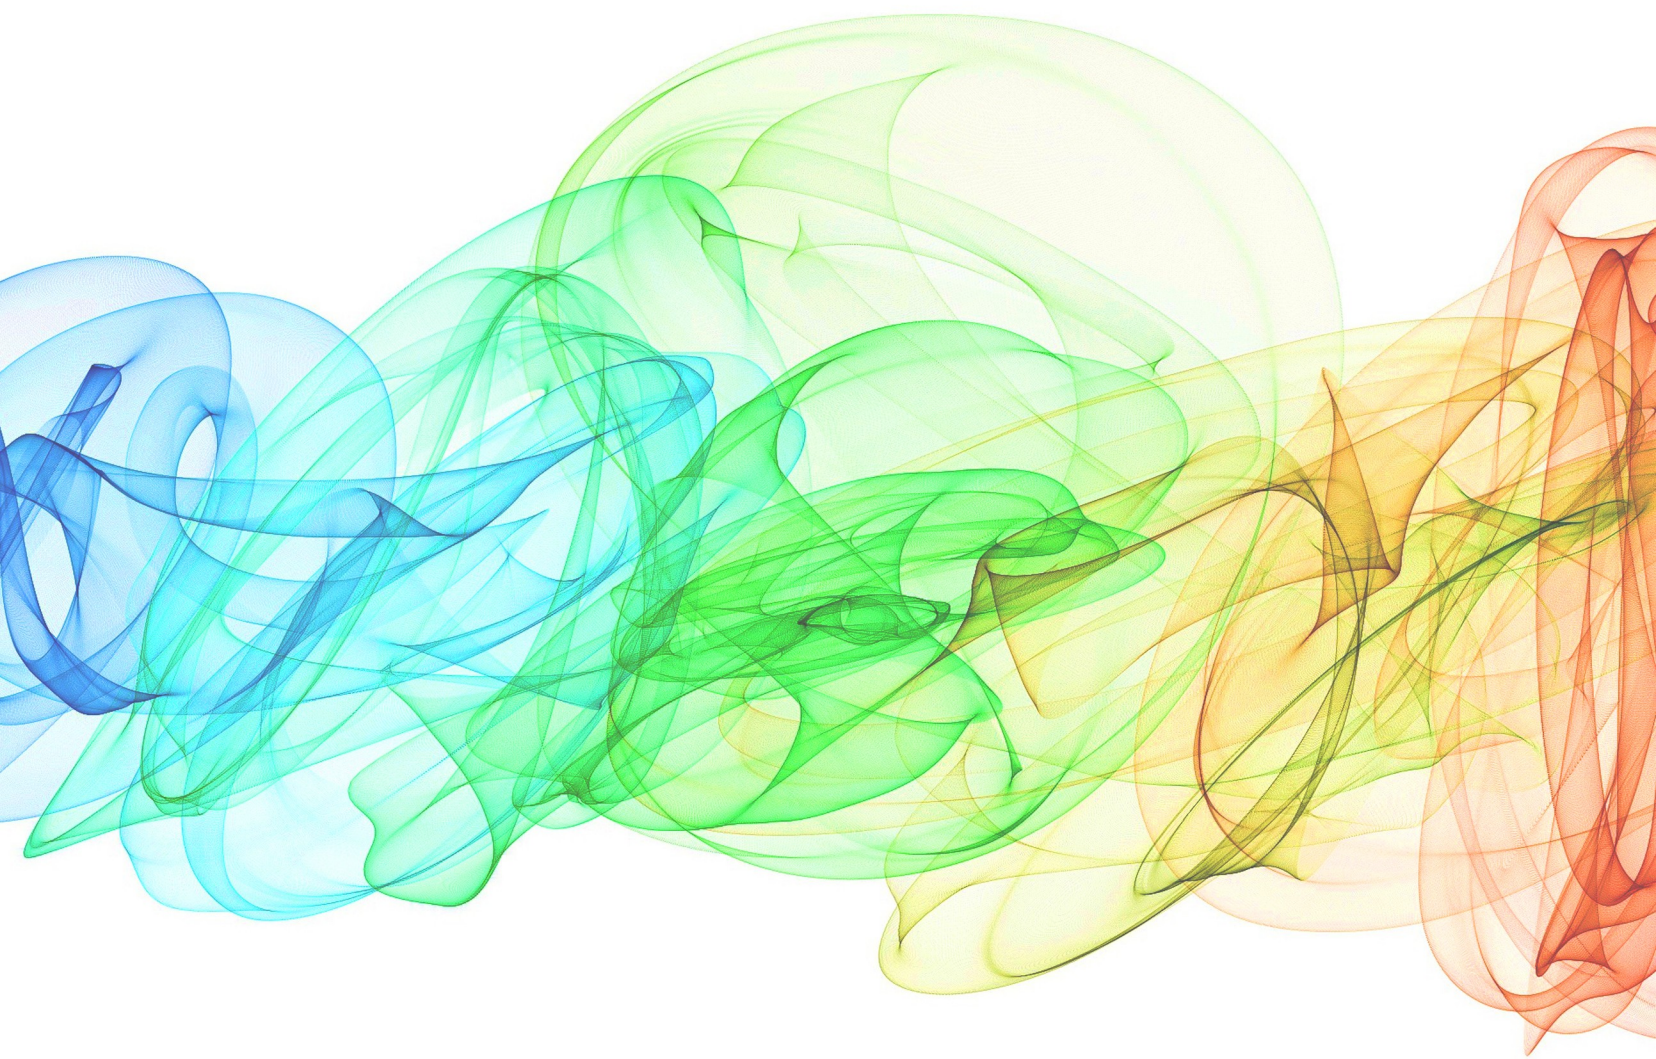

(Bezaleel and Oholiab formed the first "school of the arts"... "an order"... of all creatives who were stirred in their hearts to create "under the shadow of the Almighty".

Excerpts from Exodus 31:1-6

In the footsteps of Bezaleel and Oholiab, and the many artists who have used their gifts throughout the ages to show forth the beauty and glory of God, Domenic and Charlie Fusco – as artists, writers, media professionals, teachers and spiritual mentors – have now developed the Famflicks curriculum as an outreach of Visible Light Ministries.

Continuing in the will of God for the arts, Visible Light unites with the purpose of God to nurture and send forth an army of creatives who are prepared to broadcast the liberating truth found in Christ alone. May their callings and anointed creative gifts fulfill the purposes of God for this generation and hasten the return of our Lord Jesus Christ.

THINK... BELIEVE... BECOME

"For as he thinks within himself, so he is."
Proverbs 23:7

The Wisdom of Solomon speaks clearly. You are what you think. What you think causes you to do what you do. To change what you do, you must change what you think. Simple enough? If you flood your brain (brain-wash yourself) with great ideas and principles, you will be transformed by those higher ideals into a person of quality character. The result will be an unbelievable you! Don't fall prey to letting your mind wander about in the land of mediocrity. Harness your thoughts. Think on what is good. Soon you will be at the center of a new, proactive, prosperous life. Think about it.

The Secret City (Producer/Director/Co-Writer)

Siberia...the mere mention of the name sends cold chills down our spines. This frontier wonderland is unique in all the world. This documentary tells the story of an evangelist who disembarks a train in the middle of winter in Siberia's "Secret City": Ulan-Ude. The year is 1994. He knows no one. A gust of wind steals his neck scarf. A passing man retrieves it for him. It is the beginning of a friendship: the man generously offers him lodging. The documentary begins in mid-winter; temperatures are hovering around -40 degrees. Heat-jackets were required for the cameras to function. Our crew could not take our hands out of our gloves for more than twenty seconds at a time. The purpose of the film was to document the beginning of Russia's transition from a totally secular state to a time of openness to religious thought and practice. The word Siberia, derives its name from the word sibir meaning "sleeping land". "The Secret City" documents the slow awakening from a spiritual void of this people of this region to the realization of power of the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Save the Planet (Director of Photography)

Hank Aaron narrates this documentary which brings attention to the pollution that is plaguing our planet. With the support of Kenny Loggins' environmental anthem, "Conviction of the Heart", the film provides constructive information and key comments from Andrew Young and others to inspire us to answer the question Loggins poses:

"Air that's too angry to breathe, water our children can't drink,
You've heard it hundreds of times, You say you're aware,
Believe, and you care, but... Do you care enough?
Where's your conviction of the heart?"

One Moment in Time (Co-Writer/Producer/Director)

Shot in the USSR in 1989-90 before perestroika (restructuring of the Soviet political and economic system and openness to the Western world), this documentary tells the story of the real attitude of the Soviet citizens toward the USA at a pivotal time in modern history. A group of seventy students from Atlanta, Georgia spent two weeks sharing a musical review of American classics from the forties through the eighties entitled "One Moment in Time". This talented group of students from Northside High School of Performing Arts, under the direction of Billy Dunsmore, traveled to Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev and performed in Russia's most prestigious opera houses and theaters fostering good will in the face of opposing ideologies.

The Secrets of a Horse Whisperer (Producer/Director/Co-Writer)

Shot in majestic Jackson Hole, WY, this is an incredible story of how a relationship is developed between a cowboy and his horse through a non-violent training technique referred to as “horse whispering”. It is a fascinating and masterfully crafted film filled with techniques that easily translate into human relationships. The acronym T.R.U.S.T. is used to simplify the process of Grant Golliher’s restraint-free technique. It describes the gradual process Grant uses to gain a horse’s trust. He guides the horse from fear of his predator (man) to a lifelong, faithful partnership with his trainer and owner. Mr. Golliher shares his personal knowledge, and presents his remarkable, unfailing five-step process, from first encounter in the wild to the first unbridled ride:

Terrified
Resist Authority
Understanding
Submission
Trusting Relationship.

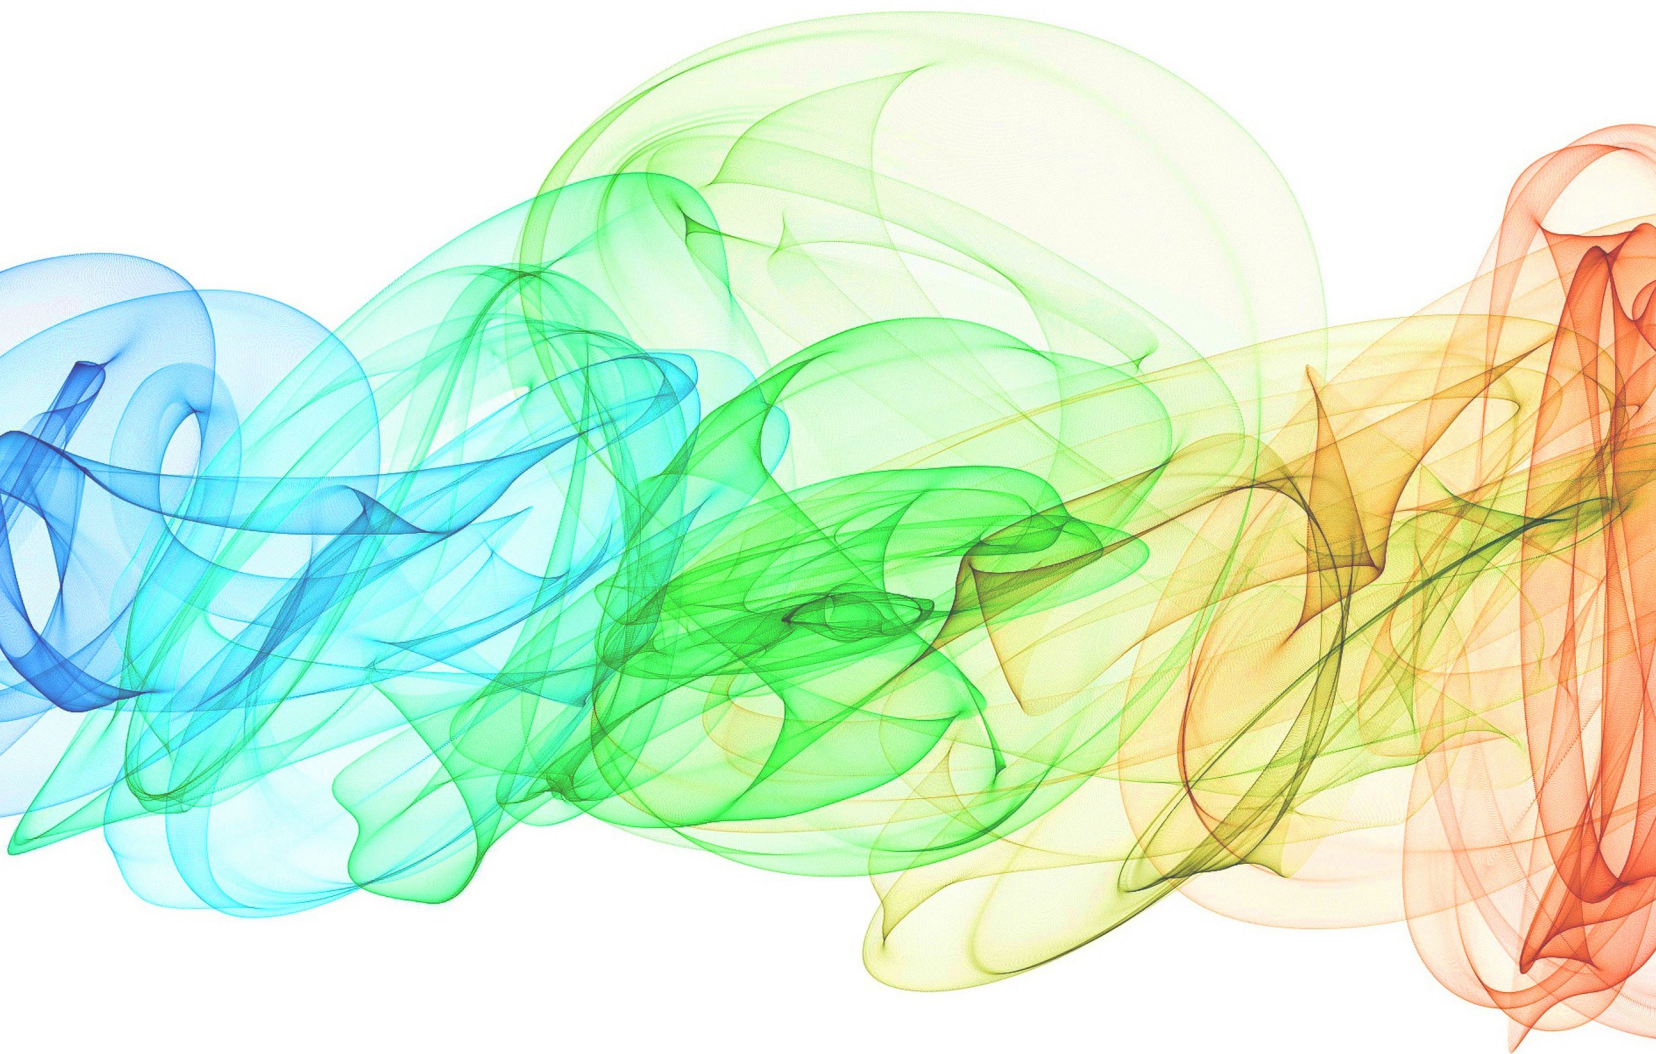

Fire Over Israel (Producer/Director/Co-Writer)

Jerusalem, the holy center of three of the world's oldest religions, is a hot-bed of political and religious confrontations. Yet, in spite of the political tensions, an authentic friendship between the people of all faiths is dramatically documented. Abraham, the father of Judaism, Christianity and Islam, is their common bond for peace and prayers. In this film, Christian evangelist Gerald Derstine shares love, respect and affection with Jews, Druze, Muslims and Samaritans in their communities and brings them together to pass on to them the blessings he has experienced as a messenger of Abraham's God. The film provides evidence that the fire of political unrest can be replaced with the fire of God's love and acceptance for all who inhabit Israel.

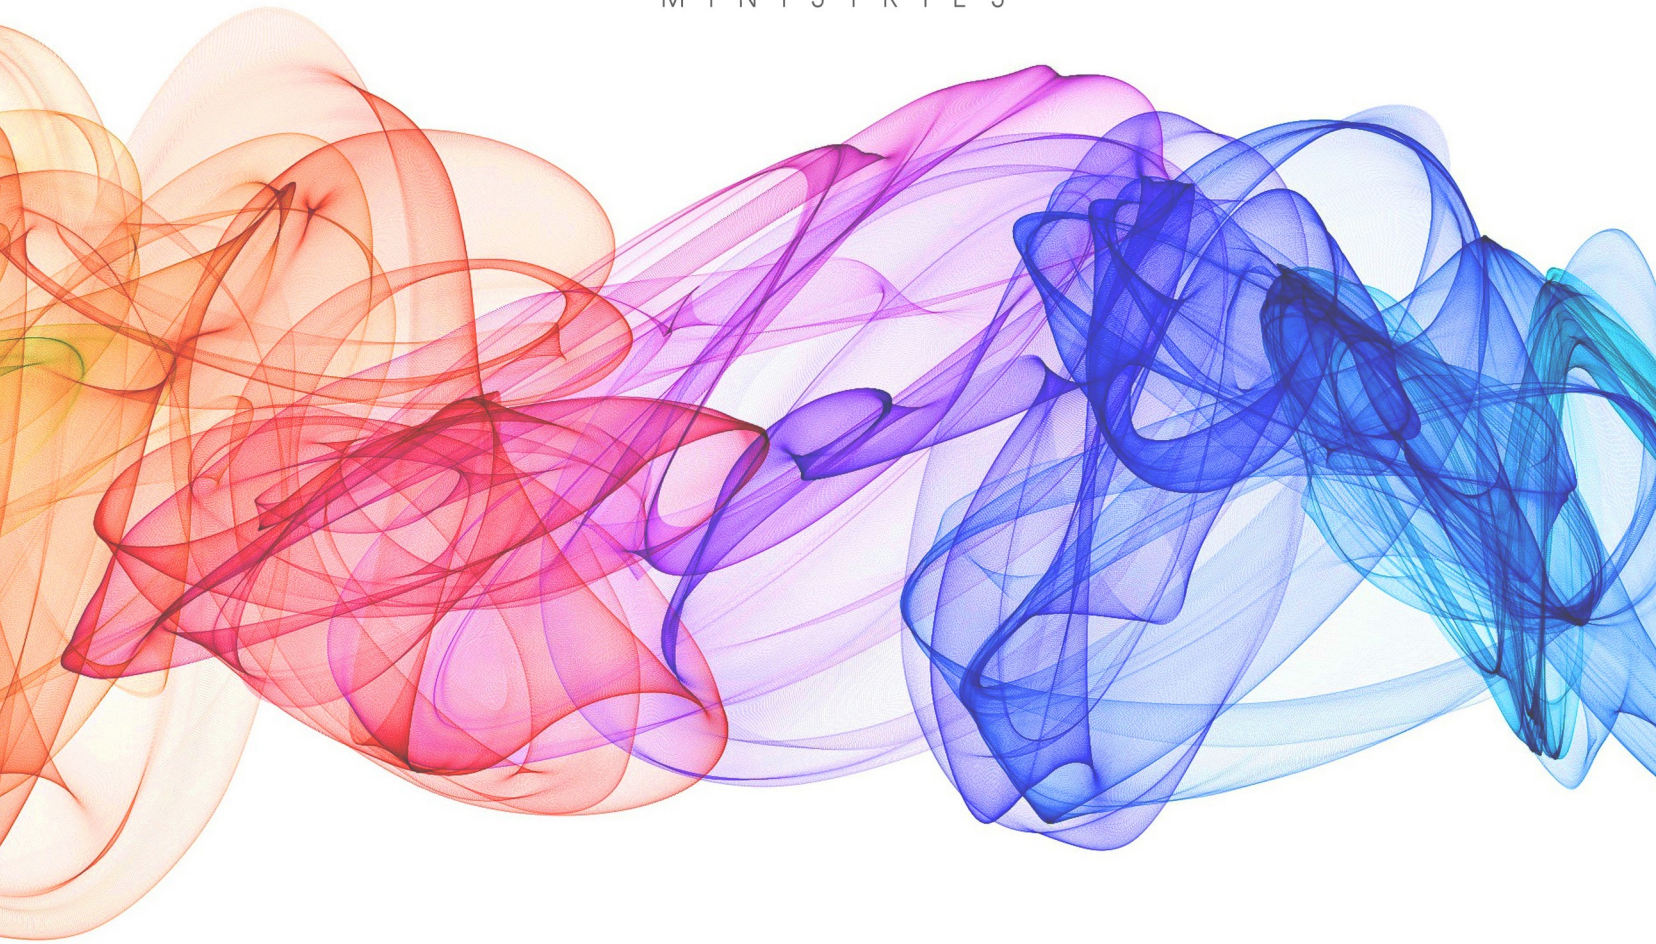

The Ultimate V8: Ferrari (Associate Producer, Director of Photography)

This film places the viewer behind the wheel of the most incredible sports car in the world: Ferrari. Professional drivers, Steve and Tom Shelton, command the Ferrari F355 on a closed course at Road Atlanta. Brace yourself for an adrenaline rush while experiencing views from the driver's seat, helicopter, front and back mounts that embrace tight curves and a six story drop at incredible speeds. Critics considered “The Ultimate V8: Ferrari” the best sports car expose of its time.

Our Commitment

Our Commitment to Our Partners

1. We will prayerfully and purposely endeavor to remember our first love, our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, drawing near to Him – the Creator of all things - who alone is our source of life and inspiration.
2. We aspire to be “living epistles” who – empowered by the Spirit – faithfully model the love and character of God to those in the arts and media community that they may recognize the source of their talents and use them to express beauty, truth and goodness.
3. We will persevere in teaching, mentoring and producing media with a consistent Biblical world-view.
4. We endeavor to remain steadfast in sound doctrine, as established and passed down by the historic church, and thus safeguard ourselves from falling prey to the heresies of this present age.
5. We commit to faithfully continue in our calling – regardless of hardship – trusting God to come to our aid that we “faint not” in well doing.
6. Acknowledging our weaknesses and constant need for God’s abundant mercy, grace, and empowerment, we purpose to trust that He who began a good work in us will finish it.
7. We passionately commit to resolve the conflict between good and evil for the glory of God through the talents, resources, intellectual and spiritual gifts entrusted to us.
8. We pledge to maintain regular communications with you to share the news of how God is blessing the ministry and make you aware of special prayer concerns.
